

Centre for Minerals Innovation Created

Written by Gord Wiebe

Monday, 17 November 2014 09:34

Saskatchewan Polytechnic has announced the creation of a Centre for Minerals Innovation. International Minerals Innovation Institute is providing $500 thousand in initial funding. The centre will help co-ordinate the ongoing training needs of the minerals industry. Polytech President and CEO Doctor Larry Rosia (Rose-ee-ah) says the centre will collaborate with industry partners and other educational institutions in the province to respond to their needs and strategic goals in providing accessible training and a high quality workforce. [gw nov 17 2014]

< Prev

Next >